This course will prepare students to understand the foundations of finance and the basis for fiscal leadership. Students will acquire knowledge of the allocation and distribution of resources as well as ongoing knowledge of the financial impact of the local, regional, and national economies. Additionally, students will develop concrete skills in financial management, analysis, reporting, and communication from a leadership perspective.

LDR 6010 Organizational Behavior (3 Units)

This course addresses organizational behavior and how it is impacted by values, diversity, and technology. Students examine the process through which managers learn to apply concepts from the behavioral sciences to observe, understand, and influence behavior in the workplace. Concepts such as motivation, leadership and application of techniques for individual and organizational growth and decision-making in a global environment are discussed.

LDR 6017 Applied Ethics (1 Unit)

This course explores the theories of ethics and a process of ethical decision making in order to develop a stakeholder approach to leading organizations. Students will be challenged to consider personal ethical standards (goals, norms, beliefs, and values) and to create a framework for evaluating ethical choices, resulting in the ability to develop, articulate, and implement a compelling moral decision.

LDR 6018 Legal Implications of Organizations (1 Unit)

This course investigates the key aspects of law relevant to leaders and managers of organizations. Topics include contracts, strict and product liability, organizational structures, alternative dispute resolution, and human resource law. Case studies and case law will be used to understand and apply legal concepts.

LDR 6019 Corporate Social Responsibility (1 Unit)

This course explores how organizations can recognize long-term value by integrating social responsibility into their core strategy. Students will learn how to lead corporate social responsibility efforts within organizations and become effective change agents for positive social impact.

LDR 6020 Practice of Leadership (4 Units)

This course provides students with an understanding of core behavioral patterns for effective leadership. Students will learn how to utilize the knowledge of leadership theories and models for practical application in various situations within organizations. Additionally, students will explore the concept of change and how to implement change strategies within organizations.

LDR 6021 Strategic Leadership (4 Units)

This course surveys models and best practices for organizational strategic planning, including leaders' roles in the planning process and in implementing the plan at various operational levels. Various methods for analyzing and solving problems, as well as decision-making strategies, are examined for utilization as change in an organization's operations becomes necessary. Students will discern which models, theories, and practices align with an organization's principles and values.

LDR 6025 Applied Data Analysis and Visualization (3 Units)

This course explores methods of applied data analysis, including capturing, identifying and analyzing data to inform decision making. Topics include an overview of statistical concepts, guidelines for effective data analysis, data visualization principles, and presenting and evaluating alternative solutions. Emphasis will be placed on designing and creating data visualizations to communicate with various stakeholders.

Prerequisite(s): Excel Module

LDR 6041 Leadership Capstone (1 Unit)

This course helps students create a portfolio that presents the findings of their Lines of Inquiry (LOI), which are students' personal research interests in the field of organizational leadership developed in the first course in the program. The portfolio will be an accumulation of coursework, complemented by current research in the field, and made presentation-ready for future professional use.

LDR 6045 Leadership Theory and Application (3 Units)

This course explores the development of a theoretical basis of the intrinsic and extrinsic motivations for exceptional performance. Students analyze the ways leadership and culture shape an organization's environment and history. Different leadership styles, personal leadership effectiveness, and both historical and contemporary leadership literature will be examined. In addition, students will utilize leadership instruments to assess their own leadership styles and competencies.

LDR 6048I Leading with Integrity (1 Unit)

This course examines leaders from diverse backgrounds as models for students to develop their ability to lead with integrity. Students will be challenged to integrate their academic knowledge, core values, and experiences as it relates to leadership. An emphasis is placed on how leaders maintain their moral character in the face of challenges.

LDR 6048P Leading with Purpose (1 Unit)

This course includes an opportunity for students to craft a personal leadership development plan. Students will be challenged to integrate their academic knowledge, core values, and experience as it relates to leadership. An emphasis is placed on how putting one's purpose to work enriches the life of a leader and positively impacts those within the organization one leads.

LDR 6048S Leading with Service (1 Unit)

This course examines leaders from diverse backgrounds as models for students to develop their own approach to leading with service. Students will be challenged to integrate their academic knowledge, core values, and experiences as it relates to leadership. An emphasis is placed on how leaders create a strong community through service. Students will have the opportunity to participate in a service project.

LDR 6060 Managing in a Changing Environment (3 Units)

This course explores how high performance in organizations is related to the ability to adapt to changing internal and external needs, and the impact of values upon the success of the organization. Students will examine the environmental, structural, and human dynamics of organizational change, including factors bearing on organizational rigidity or flexibility. The role of leaders in implementing collaborative change processes is stressed along with a study of strategies for involving others in the design and execution of change projects in a technologically and culturally changing world.

LDR 6061 Negotiation and Conflict Resolution (3 Units)

This course explores the art and science of negotiation and conflict resolution as important strategies and skills for making decisions, managing conflict and creating value. Topics include persuasion, interpersonal and intra-group resolution, overcoming bias, problem-solving techniques, levels of conflict, non-verbal communication and cross-cultural negotiations. In addition, the course will incorporate simulated negotiations and will highlight the importance of leadership, ethics and trust.

LDR 6062 Diversity and Cultural Dynamics (3 Units)

This course examines theory, policy and practice of managing diversity and cultural dynamics within organizations. Topics include intercultural communication, inclusiveness, equity, and dimensions of diversity and culture. Emphasis is placed on cultural values and beliefs in a complex and dynamic work environment.

Prerequisite(s): LDR 6045
